Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts (1) We have not used OCR(Optical Character Recognition), as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos. (2) In books where there are images such as portraits, maps, sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images, so they represent accurately the original artefact. Excerpt from Veterinary Obstetrics: A Compendium for the Use of Students and Practitioners In offering this little volume to the Veterinary Profession of America, it is not my desire to encourage the student in the neglect of the more voluminous works on Veterinary Obstetrics, but more with the idea of aiding him, when time is an object, in reviewing his studies on the subject. It is with the hope, also, that it may be of service to the busy obstetrician, in refreshing his memory when quick reference is required, or when larger works may be inaccessible. In the preparation of this compendium, the following literature has been consulted, and, in several of the sections, somewhat freely quoted: "Fleming's Obstetrics," "Chauveau's Comparative Anatomy" (Fleming), "Vade Mecum of Equine Anatomy" (Liautard), Friedberger & Frohner's "Pathology and Therapeutics of the Domestic Animals," "Moller's Surgery," "Journal of Comparative Pathology and Therapeutics" (McFadyean), articles in published reports of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (Law); and I am much indebted to my friend Mr. John Renfrew, M.R.C.V.S., of Glasgow, Scotland, for numerous and copious notes.
